

What is the role of restitution? Views for transitional justice experts.

Dr Fanie
Du Toit,
Executive Director - Institute for Justice

and Reconciliation

Restitution ought therefore to consist, first and foremost, in efforts to affirm and restore the human dignity of all South Africans, most notably those whose human dignity was systematically denied in the past. (Read more)

David
Tolbert,
President of ICTJ, New York

Confronting past injustices committed under Apartheid and providing victims with fair reparations are two steps that need to take place before South Africa can fully transition to a society based on social equality. (Read more)